SAINT IGNATIUS of ANTIOCH

(ca. 35-ca. 108)

Patron Saint of Church in eastern
Mediterranean

Feast day is October 17

Ignatius was a convert to Christianity. He was a disciple of St John the Apostle and was consecrated the second bishop of Antioch, Syria, by St. Peter. In 107, Emperor Trajan tried to force Christians to renounce their religion. Many, like St. Ignatius refused.

Ignatius allowed soldiers to bind him in a rickety cart and lead him to Rome for martyrdom. As his cart rolled into towns, local bishops and Christians came to meet and encourage him. His friend Saint Polycarp, the bishop of Smyrna, received him with great honor, because he saw Ignatius's holiness.

On the journey, Ignatius wrote seven letters to the churches he left behind. The letters give insight into the growth of theology. Ignatius praised the love and support he experienced on his way to Rome. He insisted that the people obey their bishop and act only with his approval. "Wherever the bishop is, there let the people be, for there is the Catholic Church." Ignatius wrote that Christ was present in the Church, in each member, and in the Blessed Sacrament. Of himself, he said, "I am the wheat of Christ, may I be ground by the teeth of beasts to become the immaculate bread of Christ." He asked his people to gather around the Eucharist and to care for "the widow, the orphan, the oppressed, as well as those in prison, the hungry and the thirsty." He called himself "the bearer of God." Ignatius was devoured by wild beasts in the Roman amphitheater.

St. Ignatius is also know for being the first to use the term "Catholic," which means universal, to describe the Church.
